

Bound Together

TOPIC : Parents

SCRIPTURE : Colossians 3:12-17, 20

SUPPLIES : 1 ball of yarn per person (include a variety of colors), scissors

Have youth form groups of three. Give each group a pair of scissors and three balls of yarn in three different colors. Instruct each group to appoint one person as the "binder." That person will tie the other two team members together as quickly as possible.

The pair of youth to be tied together should stand back to back. The binder must tie the pair at their ankles, knees, hips, hands, and heads. At each point, the binder must use all three colors of yarn. The first group to be successfully tied at all five spots wins.

DISCUSSION

- How was this game similar to your relationship with your parents?
- How can trusting our parents' advice be an example of patience and faith?
- When we obey our parents and honor their decisions, how are we showing evidence of God's Spirit in our lives?
- When our parents are wrong, how does God want us to respond to them?
- How can we thank God for our parents' decisions even when we don't agree?
