

When we don't live the way God designed us to, we don't enjoy the benefits of a relationship with Him; not because He'll walk away; but because we'll stop hearing His knock at the door of our hearts.

God's world or the jungle?

You have to choose: what kind of man will you be?

Will you be a friend, follower, son and disciple of Jesus Christ? Does your life give witness to Jesus Christ?

If He is looking at the movie of your life; is he pleased?

Just because you open your heart to the love of God doesn't mean the animal male inside you disappears, and the pull of the jungle no longer has any hold on you, and the devil leaves you alone. The hunger for power, sex, status, and wealth never disappears; but giving in to them, we are in motion against God and against our higher nature. The Holy Spirit cannot live in us; and we are not men of God. We have to choose: the jungle or God's world?

The ultimate choice is:

-Do I turn away from a life centered on myself and live a life that glorifies God?

-Do I turn around from a life of rejecting God to a life of following Him?

-Do I reject a small life for the ultimate adventure?

God's life is crazy in the eyes of those who live in the jungle; because it means nothing less than your death. You literally will die. The small life will have to die, so the life in God's spirit can live in you.

When you give your life to God, you are free; because then you don't have to please anyone but Him. He is the only one you have to answer to.
