

I am God.

I created you because I am love. I am passionately interested in you and I desire your growth. I only ask progress from you, not perfection. I am with you in your life and in your hunger to become more, to be more fully the person that I created you to be. You are unique; there is no one who has the same purpose in life that I have entrusted to you. I have a dream that you be only yourself, that you not try to be a carbon copy of someone else. You have your song to sing!

"Every flower blooms in its own time, in its unique fashion, in its own colors and scents; what matters to me is that it grows and blooms in its own unique way. So it is with you; the world will be missing something important and valuable if you do not live and become your truest self.

"What matters to me is that you are on your path of growth; that you are a bit further along tonight than you were this morning. I am with you if you fail; I know that you are trying. If you fall, I will reach out to you. I only ask that you relax in my love, take it easy, be happy with yourself, and believe in my love and hopes for you.

"You are the only you that will ever grace and gift this world, and the world is better for having you in it!"
