

FAMILY

My Dear Child,

Family life is not easy. Living with people presents all kinds of annoyances. But it also provides many blessings. As you go through your difficulties with your family, always remember to put them in my care. Pray for your family members.

Do everything you can to keep me where I would like to be and for the survival of your family need to be– at the center of your family life.

Remember that My Father gave you the family you have for a reason. He knew that you would need both the genes you inherited and these specific people around you for the development of your soul in this lifetime.

That doesn't make them any less annoying; but it can help you keep perspective. Remember that even though I am My Father's Son; I still needed an earthly family, so I know what it's like.

Pray for me to give you patience and a sense of humor, sometimes that's the only way you can get through things.

If there are family fights; try to not say or do hurtful things that may wound these people too much.

Ask for my patience and guidance when you are struggling with family stress.

I love you always

Jesus
