

In America, you are not required to offer food to the hungry. Or shelter to the homeless. Or to visit the lonely. In fact, one of the nicest things about living in America is that you really don't have to do anything for anybody.