

GROUP DISCUSSION

Directions: These statements were prepared by last year's Juniors. They are "designed" to get you into some important "Junior issues." They are not meant to be TRUTH statements. You decide what the real truth is. Rewrite these statements as you think they should be worded.

Each group is to select a leader. Chaperones will be going around asking if you have selected someone.

Leader:

1. Have everyone in the group work alone, completing this paper according to the above directions.
2. Let the group decide the order of the statements they wish to discuss.
3. Hear everyone's opinion about the statement being considered. Actually go around the group and hear everyone.
4. Then, have the group discuss how they felt about what everyone said.
5. At the end of group, please decide on a statement you would like to present to the entire class during the afternoon session. Decide who will present it. It doesn't have to be the leader.

1. Girls need a boyfriend to be happy.

2. It's not cool to have a relationship with your parents.

3. boys can make great friends as well as great boyfriends.

4. A relationship must have equal effort from both individuals.

(OVER)

5. Who come first, second, third, etc.?

Family____ School____ Friends____ Boyfriend____ Yourself____

6. Expressing opinions too strongly makes you lose friends.

7. If you don't acknowledge/express feelings, they will go away.

8. People who know their abilities and talents are conceited.

9. Users get away with murder and that's not fair.

10. I believe in God but He doesn't have much practical influence on my life.
