

Reflection

What is a good trait that other people say that you have?

What is a good trait that you see in yourself?

What gift do you possess that hasn't been developed to its full potential?