

Toy Box

Each of us has a history. Learning more about one another's backgrounds can help a group understand and appreciate each other even more. Use the questions below to help you discuss your childhood and your childhood toys.

1. What were your favorite toys when you were a child?
2. Which ones do you still have?
3. What games did you play at recess and with the kids in the neighborhood?
4. What was your favorite birthday or Christmas present when you were in grade school?
5. What board games and other games did you play with your family?
6. What did you do when you had a friend over to spend the night?
7. What was the one toy you always wanted and never got?
