

LONG-DISTANCE ROLE PLAY

Here's an interesting role play using simulated telephone conversations. Give each person a card with one of the following situations written on it. The teen must act out only one side of the conversation, and the rest of the group then tries to guess what is going on.

- You have just called heaven to complain about the way things are going and after you have listed all your complaints, you find you were talking to God personally.
- God has just called you to suggest that you break up with your boyfriend/girlfriend, and you are trying to convince him otherwise.
- God has just called to explain that he wants you to be a missionary. You don't want to be so you're trying to convince him that you do, but not right now.
- God called and wants you to give an account of how you have spent the last three days.
- You have just experienced a personal tragedy and you call God to ask why. He answers the phone, listens to what you have to say, and then hangs up without a word.
