

The need of others' recognition runs through our whole life; even the most modest love does not wish to hide its joy forever.
He who has a friend desires to show his pride in him before the world.

— Lotze

Friendship is surely one of life's special miracles. When two people are united in friendship's spirit, the relationship assumes special light and life-giving qualities unlike any other. Friendships give richness to life and promise to the future.

—Andrew Tawney

A friend is a present you give yourself.
—Robert Louis Stevenson

One thing stirs me when I look back at my youthful days, the fact that so many gave me something or were something to me without knowing it.

—Albert Schweitzer

I sought my soul, but it ~~was~~<sup>u</sup> I could not see God. But He send me friend + found all three

A friend is one to whom one may pour out all the contents of one's heart, chaff and grain together knowing that the gentlest of hands
will take and sift it, keep what is worth keeping and with a breath of kindness blow the rest away.

— Arabian Proverb
