What are some tough times, some difficult challenges you are glad have been part of your life because of what you learned, and how you changed from going through them?