

Time Will Tell

We all seem so busy. If only we had a little more time! How do you feel about time? Do you have enough time? Do you feel rushed? Are you bored? Which one of the images below best describes your feelings about time? Choose the one which fits you and share your answers with the group. Your group might choose to try and guess each other's answers ...

Cuckoo Clock

My schedule drives me crazy! You should see my daily calendar!

Indigo

I keep such late hours my timepiece has to glow in the dark.

VCR Clock

I can't seem to figure out this time thing. I need help!

Sundial

I'm not into schedules. Looking at the sun is close enough for me.

Big Ben

Getting places on time is central to my life. I'm always hearing alarm buzzes and bells.

Stopwatch

My life seems like a race against the clock. Faster! Faster!!

Hour Glass

My schedule is very structured. My time is measured in tiny pieces.

Annoying Alarm Clock

Clocks and I don't get along very well. They make me grumpy.

Pocket Watch

My attitude toward time is old-fashioned, early to bed and early to rise.

Toy Clock

My kids are my clock. I plan my day according to their schedule.

Wind-up Clock

I'm so busy I have to be careful I don't wind down!

Dashboard Clock

I spend so much time on the road that I drive in my sleep.