

Today is a celebration of you because you're a special person to God

and to everyone in your life.

You really do have
"something special"
and it shows

in everything you do and say.

Today is a celebration of you because you're an inspiration to so many.

Your relationship with God,
the way you seem
so continually aware
of His guiding presence
in your life,

sustains not only you but helps others.

Today is a celebration of you because you're a special friend.

You're always there
with helpful advice
a loving heart.

and many thoughtful prayers.

You're growing so beautifully in God's love...

no wonder you have
so much joy in your life
and give so much joy
to others.

Nancy Cockrell

