

Anatomy Clumps

Players begin by milling around the room as the leader stands in the middle. After a few seconds, the leader blows a whistle and yells out two things: a part of the body and a number ("Elbow! Three!"). All players then rush to get into groups of whatever number was called and connect with one another at the body part that was called. After the call "Elbow! Three!" for example, players form groups of three and touch elbows with one another. The last group to do this correctly is eliminated.

Other examples of possible calls:

knee, four

nose, three

ankle, six

back, two

rear, five

neck, two shoulder, six

head, four
