

Apple Throw

The group is seated in chairs, preferably in a closed circle. One person stands inside the circle. The group passes or throws an apple around the circle (to any one in the circle they choose). The person in the middle then tries to tag the person who has the apple. When he catches someone with the apple, the two exchange positions. Also, if he catches the apple in midair, the one who threw it has to exchange positions and become "it."
