

ROCK, PAPER, SCISSORS TAG

Here's yet another variation on the game of tag.

Divide the group into three teams: Paper, Rock, and Scissors. Each teenager should use their left hand to continually show their sign, and use their right hand to tag others. Paper can only tag Rock, Rock tags Scissors, and Scissors tags Paper—and tagged people sit down. An untagged member of a team can free their comrades by touching them. A team wins if they can tag every member of its "opposite." (You can also just go for an allotted time, since games can sometimes last a long time.)