

THIS LITTLE LIGHT

Each person is given a flashlight (or brings one) and a special code (one flash, two flashes, one long and one short flash, etc.). The number of teams desired determines the number of codes. As soon as the codes are assigned, turn out the lights. By flashing their lights at each other in their special codes, the kids are to group together with others of the same code. No talking is allowed. The group that does the best job of getting together is the winner.
