

pingpong dump

For this game I bought an old suitcase from a consignment shop and filled it with pingpong balls.

To play, dump out the pingpong balls and see how fast kids can get them back in the case. The next week I dropped the balls from the balcony. Later I tried it at the mall.

You can buy a bunch of balls on eBay, and then use them for other ideas. On last year's missions trip I handed kids each a pingpong ball and had them write the week's Scripture reference. Then I told them to leave the ball somewhere during the week.
