

WANTED!

Here's an inventive way to convince MIA teenagers that they should come back to youth group.

Outside our youth room we have 25 "Wanted!" posters for kids who've been absent for more than a month—we use our own photo or we snag one from Facebook. A student who "captures" an outlaw and brings him/her to youth group gets a free drink. One of our kids took a photo of a poster and texted it to the guy. "Erik" posted it on Facebook and asked, "Is this for real?" He got "We miss you!" responses. Soon, Erik walked in and removed his Wanted! poster.