

/ Slide Show Study

If your goal is to move your teenagers from the place of passive-consumers-of-information to the place of ownership, ask them to take a biblical passage and prepare a “slide show” of a biblical episode. Have them set up and shoot digital photos that tell the story of the passage—encourage them to fuel their “right brain” and come up with creative ways to tell the story. Most biblical narratives are great fodder for this approach, but don’t overlook poetry and preaching (for example, 1 Corinthians 13 or 1 Corinthians 12:12-27).
