

A TEST OF TRUE FRIENDSHIP

Can I be myself when I'm with members of my group, or do I feel the need to put on an act?

If I do or wear something different than the rest of the group, would I be accepted?

Do I have the most fun with the kids in my group, or with kids outside of my group?

What do the kids in my group like the best about me? Is that something I want to be valued for?

What do I like best about the other kids in my group? Are these internal qualities or external qualities?

If I spend time with a friend outside of my group, are my group members OK with that?

Do kids in my group think that they are better than kids not in my group?

Do kids in my group treat kids who aren't a part of it kindly or cruelly?