

IMPATIENT

My Dear Child,
So you are feeling impatient.

Tell me about it!

I send my Son into the world to save you guys and to show you how to live and most people at the time blow him off and all these years later- SAME THING.

If there's anybody who should be impatient it's me!

Truth is I have infinite patience, which you might "that's easy for you- you exist beyond time & you know how this all turns out.

Actually I have infinite patience because I have infinite love. I have enjoyed and loved your life, even though you started out as a crying, pooping, peeing baby, who couldn't do much else. I have loved watching you grow.

I love watching everyone grow.

Yes it does hurt when I see someone go down a path that will harm them or make choices that will hurt others.

But because I am free from fear, I am free to love like I do.

Take a look at what you are impatient about.

I would bet that if you go deep down enough you would see that there is something you are afraid of. What is that?

Surrender that fear to me, let me take care of it.

Trust that I am Good all the time and you can never be separated from that goodness.

All my Love Always, Jesus
