

200 Years As Average Civilization

History repeats itself as time marches on.
The great civilizations have averaged about 200 years. The people of the world have followed this timetable:

The people go:

From slavery to spiritual faith
From spiritual faith to courage
From courage to freedom
From freedom to abundance
From abundance to selfishness
From selfishness to apathy
From apathy to dependence
From dependence back to slavery.

200 Years As Average Civilization

History repeats itself as time marches on.
The great civilizations have averaged
about 200 years. The people of the
world have followed this timetable:

The people go:

From slavery to spiritual faith
From spiritual faith to courage
From courage to freedom
From freedom to abundance
From abundance to selfishness
From selfishness to apathy
From apathy to dependence
From dependence back to slavery.

200 Years As Average Civilization

History repeats itself as time marches on.
The great civilizations have averaged
about 200 years. The people of the
world have followed this timetable:

The people go:

From slavery to spiritual faith
From spiritual faith to courage
From courage to freedom
From freedom to abundance
From abundance to selfishness
From selfishness to apathy
From apathy to dependence
From dependence back to slavery.

200 Years As Average Civilization

History repeats itself as time marches on.
The great civilizations have averaged
about 200 years. The people of the
world have followed this timetable:

The people go:

From slavery to spiritual faith
From spiritual faith to courage
From courage to freedom
From freedom to abundance
From abundance to selfishness
From selfishness to apathy
From apathy to dependence
From dependence back to slavery.

200 Years As Average Civilization

History repeats itself as time marches on.
The great civilizations have averaged
about 200 years. The people of the
world have followed this timetable:

The people go:

From slavery to spiritual faith
From spiritual faith to courage
From courage to freedom
From freedom to abundance
From abundance to selfishness
From selfishness to apathy
From apathy to dependence
From dependence back to slavery.

200 Years As Average Civilization

History repeats itself as time marches on.
The great civilizations have averaged
about 200 years. The people of the
world have followed this timetable:

The people go:

From slavery to spiritual faith
From spiritual faith to courage
From courage to freedom
From freedom to abundance
From abundance to selfishness
From selfishness to apathy
From apathy to dependence
From dependence back to slavery.