

meeting =/

Sunday, November 2, 2008 9:53 AM

From: "ali" &lt;hotpinkcrayon91@yahoo.com&gt;

To: "steven quin" &lt;quinnycmon@hotmail.com&gt;

okay so this is some of the stuff i found. we dont need to use it all but some of its pretty good.

just a few stereotypes: so i have this idea. il get all the stuff for it. as people walk in they will get a paper with a stereotype on it. weither it decribes them or not. then we will ask them how they feel about us putting them into these catagories.

Blonde
 Brunette
 The one with the wacky hair
 Cheerleaders
 Snobbiest
 Prettiest
 "Drop Dead Gorgeous"
 Athletic
 Funniest
 Prom Queen/King
 Preppiest
 Gothic
 "Ghetto"
 Quiet
 Nicest
 Smartest
 Nerd
 Loudest

I am asian so I must be good at math.
 Im skinny so i must be anorexic.
 I'm Emo, so i must cut
 I'm a man, so i must be a pervert
 I'm german, so i must be a Nazi i wear glasses and braces so i must be a geek

Stereotype- preconceived and oversimplified notion of characteristics typical of a person or group

"Acceptance. It is the true thing everyone longs for. The one thing everyone craves. To walk in a room and to be greeted by everyone with hugs and smiles. And in that small passing moment, you truly know you're loved, needed, and accepted." - Rena Harmon

Steps on acceptance:

1. Remember that all people in the world are equal to you so don't try to change yourself.
2. Smile and try to look inviting. Being surly can cause people to avoid you or form incorrect ideas about your personality.

3. Do not behave in a way that may make others uncomfortable including swearing, being mean, yelling and saying rude things.
4. Don't talk really loudly but don't be so quiet no one can understand you.
5. Involve yourself by being friendly to people in your class. Hopefully, they will return the favour and include you.
6. Try to look clean and make good first impressions. People are more likely to remember you if you look like a nice person. They will also remember if you smell bad, so be careful. Always have showers.
7. Find some common ground between yourself and the people you are attempting to befriend. Having reason for a discussion goes a long way. Always ask questions about themselves. People love to talk about themselves.
8. Be yourself because as time goes on it is very difficult to keep up an act continuously. And people will find you anyway. People like real people.
9. Don't gossip or spread rumors about other people. This will not make you more popular it will only make you universally disliked.

accept yourself for who you are and the flaws that you have.