

BY YOUR TOUCH

By your touch, we are made whole
By your love, we are forgiven
By your spirit, we are born to live forever

Jesus will you hear me when I call upon your name
For I am helpless and I am wounded in my heart
Standing in the darkness now, I listen for your call
I am afraid to walk without you; Afraid to start again

By your touch, we are made whole
By your love, we are forgiven
By your spirit, we are born to live forever

In the weakness of temptation, and in the silence of despair
I have been broken, but I will rise to stand again
You give love without a turning point, life without an end
The courage to be faithful and the light that fills the soul
